Beer is one of the oldest and most widely consumed alcoholic drinks in the world, and the third most popular drink overall after water and tea. It is produced by the brewing and fermentation of starches, mainly derived from cereal grains—most commonly from malted barley, though wheat, maize (corn), rice, and oats are also used. During the brewing process, fermentation of the starch sugars in ...

Wine is an alcoholic drink typically made from fermented grapes. Yeast consumes the sugar in the grapes and converts it to ethanol and carbon dioxide, releasing heat in the process. Different varieties of grapes and strains of yeasts are major factors in different styles of wine. These differences result from the complex interactions between the biochemical development of the grape, the ...

If you ever attended a beer festival in the region, there was a good chance you ran into Herz. Beer rarely had a better champion. Then came 2020, the arrival of COVID-19, and the cancellation of every major beer event. The BA went through two rounds of layoffs, and Herz was not immune. The future of craft beer suddenly seemed questionable.

The same effect occurs with beverages like beer or wine, in which a bitter taste becomes much more apparent when the products are consumed above the appropriate temperature. On the other hand, consumers enjoy a certain bitter taste in some beverages, such as coffee, tea or cocoa, which is why these taste better when hot.

Coda's story began in Aurora, in 2014, as a music-themed brewery. Music and beer might sound pretty routine, but for University of Colorado medical researcher turned brewer Luke Smith, a music-themed brewery meant each beer was designed to be paired with a specific song. Say, Dog Catcher Red Ale and George Clinton's "Atomic Dog."
